

Austin, Tx

February 22-25, 1989

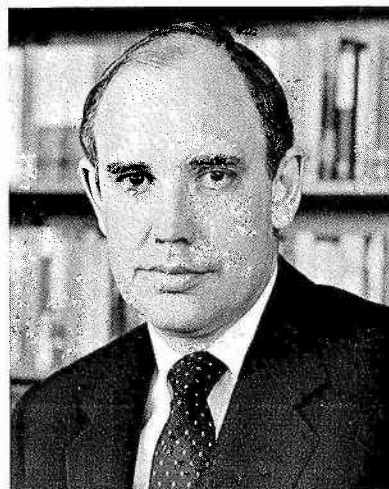

On behalf of The University of Texas at Austin, I am pleased to welcome you to our campus for the 25th National Conference of the College Band Directors National Association. It is a privilege to host this conference, and we hope your visit will be an enjoyable and rewarding experience.

The Longhorn Bands and University Bands are important, integral parts of The University, and we are grateful to our Directors for their outstanding leadership. By its talented, enthusiastic involvement in a variety of activities, the Longhorn Band makes significant contributions to the spirit and the quality of life of The University and of the larger community. We recognize the vital role of band directors and applaud their efforts to enrich the academic experience.

Best wishes for a successful conference.

The College of Fine Arts has just celebrated its 50th Anniversary at The University of Texas at Austin, but the traditions of our Band and Wind programs go back to 1897 when a small group of twenty students founded the first symphony. By 1900, "The Band" was formally organized as an official part of The University. It is for this reason we are particularly pleased to host the National Conference of your Association upon its Silver Anniversary Conference.

This is the second time the College Band Directors National Association meeting has been held on the campus of The University. We consider this an honor for UT. Members of the faculty, as well as the administrative officers of the College and the Department of Music, join me in extending a most cordial Texas welcome to you and hope you have a most productive and stimulating meeting.

WELCOME TO AUSTIN!

Glenn Richter, Host
Director of Longhorn Bands

In 1971, the University of Texas hosted the National Conference of C.B.D.N.A. The facilities and face of Austin have changed dramatically since that conference time. The highlights of the first Austin conference included Doc Severinson, The Air Force Band, marching performances by the Longhorn Band, S.M.U., and the University of Houston, and Karel Husa conducting Music for Prague, 1968. Comparing that past with the present, one must be curious about C.B.D.N.A. eighteen years from now, in 2007.

Your active participation in C.B.D.N.A. will influence the future of college and public school bands. We hope that Austin will provide the opportunities and atmosphere for growth and renewed commitments to promoting and improving music in the future world community.

Your work here and at home will send messages to a time we cannot see. Your students are the "living messages," enriched by their musical experiences.
